The problem goes deeper than not having the proper forms. That same report goes on to say that Increasingly health care pro-viders who consider a patients quality of life too low are denying life preserving measures against the will of patients and families and the laws of most States provide no effective protection against this involuntary denial. I encourage this committee to look at and consider deficiencies that exist in Federal laws that set conditions for participation in the Medicare and Medicaid programs and how essential care such as food and fluids are being dispensed. Medicare considers the pro-vision of food and fluids through a feeding tube as a prosthetic medical intervention. Yet, the enforcement of this requirement is clearly lacking. To address this weakness, I believe it is imperative to create a substantive standard addressing when food and fluids can be with-drawn to ensure that the rights of incapacitated individuals are not violated. In my view, that standard...
